Summary

This file provides a visual display of the named sequences derived from NamedSequences.txt. The proposal is to add this,

Status

The file and the files described herein are part of the _Unicode Character Database_ (UCD) and are governed by the _UCD Terms of Use_ stated at the end.

Introduction

The tables here exhaustively lists the valid, registered named sequences. The columns include a representative glyph, the sequence of code points in hex, and the name of the sequence. In addition, there is a last column entitled Copyable, which contains the literal text forming the sequence. That text can be copied and pasting in elsewhere. The display of the text in this column is up to the capabilities of the browser and the set of available fonts. For more information, see Display Problems?.

> Note: The representative glyphs used to show the names sequences are often derived from different physical fonts than the representative glyphs in the standard. They may therefore exhibit minor differences in size, proportion, style, or weight.
