The Unicode Consortium would like to ask input from the IETF on how to best re-establish communications channels regarding the IDNA update work. There appears to be a breakdown in our communications and we are not clear the best method to take to rectify the situation. Individuals from the Unicode Consotium have made a number of proposals, but there has not been feedback in return. We would very much like to work collaboratively with experts from the IETF, but are unsure of the next steps to take.

Members of the Unicode Technical Committee would welcome the opportunity for a face-to-face technical working session on IDNA if such a session could be arranged. We welcome your advice on the next steps to take in order to strengthen the working relationship between our two communities.
