I. Background information

Naxi is one of the 56 ethnic groups in China with population of 308,839 (2000 census) in total. Distributing in the joint area of Yunnan Province, Sichuan Province and Tibet Autonomous Region, Naxi people primarily inhabit Lijiang City of Yunnan Province. Yulong Naxi Autonomous County is the only one autonomous county of Naxi in China.

Naxi Dongba pictographic script is a kind of pictogram used to write scriptures by the priests of Naxi Dongba Religion. There are about 1,300 Dongba characters and 30,000 scriptures written in it, which are collected in libraries of America, German, Britain, France, Japan and Austria, as well as in Beijing, Nanjing, Kunming, Lijiang, Xiangelila and Taibei of China.

Naxi Dongba Scriptures

Naxi Dongba script was mastered by "Dongba", the priests of Dongba Religion in history. There were few people who can understand the characters owing to its primitive quality and usually it was passed on by the father to the son. Tthere is few old Dongba who are accomplished in Dongba scriptures. However, the Dongba script is still been used to write scriptures, keep business records and communicate among Naxi people, therefore it is called "the only living pictograph in the world" and has a special status in the history of human writing.

The collecting and translating of Dongba scriptures and study of Dongba pictographs by the foreign scholars had begun since the second half of the nineteenth century. Lots of progress had been made in more than one hundred years. The influencing works on Dongba script include Naxi Xiangxing Wenzi Pu (A dictionary of Naxi pictographic characters) by Fang Guoyu (1981); Moxi Xiangxing Wenzi Zidian (A dictionary of Naxi pictographs) by Li Lincan (1953); A Nakhi-English Encyclopedic Dictionary by Joseph. Rock (1963).

In 1981, Dongba Culture Study Section of the Social Science Academy of Yunnan Province (now the Dongba Culture Institute) was set up in Lijiang, establishing the first Dongba culture institute in the world. Since then the Dongba ancient books have been compiling, translating and studying in all-rounded, integrated, scientific and systemic ways. Through 20 years hard work, the one hundred volumes of Naxi Dongba Guji Yizhu Quanji (Corpora of Translation and Annotation of Naxi Dongba Ancient Books) were published in 2000. Lots of books on study of Dongba and guide for Dongba learners have been published at the same time. On August 30, 2003, the Naxi Dongba ancient books were listed as World Memory Heritage by the UNESCO.

Lijiang City is now a world famous tourism destination owing to the development of tourism industry in China. The development of tourism improves the application of Dongba pictographs in different fields such as business. Nowadays it is widely used in tourism products such as souvenir and T-shirt, signboard and signpost. Some Naxi people wrote couplets in Dongba to decorate their houses.

Meanwhile the protection and inheriting of Dongba culture is highly valued by the local government and organizations. A Dongba culture training class covering basic knowledge of Dongba culture and writing of the characters, is held irregularly to satisfy the needs of more and more young people who want to learn Dongba. The Ford Foundation gave some financial support for a Dongba inheriting program aiming at training young Naxi Dongba priests. In Huangshan Elementary School of Lijiang City, students learn to dance Dongba dancing and write Dongba script. Guide books for study Dongba were published.

As the “only living pictograph in the world”, Dongba script has high academic value and worth to be developed and utilized. Because of the aesthetic feature of the primitive writing, the pictographs are widely used in arts, business and tourism. Recently, the development of IT industry promotes the computer processing of the Dongba pictograph. Several Dongba index system and input methods had been developed. However, it is difficult to popularize them because there is no international standard. Therefore the encoding of the characters will make the transmission of the data on the internet more easily and people all over the world who are interested in Dongba can exchange their ideas freely. Meanwhile, the standardization of the Dongba pictograph is significant for the construction of the “Digital Lijiang” with ethnic cultural character.

Dongba culture training class

The standardization of Dongba script was given attention by the International Standard Organization and the departments of the People’ Republic of China such as State Education Department, State Language Commission, State Information Industry Department, State Quality and Technical Supervision, and State Standardization Administration. In May of 2005, the State Education Department and the State Language Commission set “International standardization of Naxi Dongba pictographic script” as a research program of ethnic language standardization and computerization. This program was implemented jointly by the Yunnan Minority Languages Commission and the Lijiang Dongba Culture Institute. This proposal of encoding Naxi Dongba script is the result of the program.

II. Scope

The number of the Dongba characters and its scope is a complicated problem. In Naxi Xiangxing Wenzi Pu by Fang Guoyu, 1340 characters were collected. In Moxi Xiangxing Wenzi Zidian by Li Lincan, the number is 2120. While in A Nakhi-English Encyclopedic Dictionary by Joseph. Rock, it is 3414. The main reason for the difference of the number of Dongba pictographs collected in the three dictionaries is that they did not differentiate the single glyph, the compound glyph and phrase clearly, and there are lots of repeated characters as well. In this proposal, 1188 Naxi Dongba characters are collected based on the rule that only single glyph is included.

III. Principles

1188 Naxi Dongba characters are collected based on the rule that only single glyph is included. The following are details about the characters that have been collected:

A. There are different ways to express one same meaning in Dongba scriptures which go around in different areas. In the proposal the common one is included, excluding all the variants.
B. There are lots of phonetically loaned characters and symbols of which the meaning is changed in Dongba pictograph. Their graphemes are same though they are used in different ways. In this case only one character is collected.
C. The compound characters in Dongba pictograph are composed of several single symbols, and few compounds with stable combination are included in the proposal.
D. The syllabic script Geba, which was developed from Dongba, is not included in this proposal.

Due to the limited time and reference material, it is difficult to collect all the Naxi Dongba pictographic characters in this proposal. We will make supplement on the completion of Naxi Dongba Dictionary (which is under compiling).

IV. Order of the script

The traditional way to arrange the Dongba characters used the order of categories, such as Naxi Xiangxing Wenzi Pu and Moxi Xiangxing Wenzi Zidian. Considering the international general rule and convenience of application, the Naxi Dongba pictographs in this proposal are arranged in the alphabetic order based on the Naxi Pinyin orthography of the characters. Naxi Pinyin is used to transcribe the Dongba script in this proposal.

V. Collecting and references

The characters in this proposal were collected based on the Naxi Xiangxing Wenzi Pu, Moxi Xiangxing Wenzi Zidian, and Naxi Dongba Guji Yizhu Quanji. The reference of each character is provided in this revised proposal.

VI. Font

The TrueType font of the Naxi Dongba pictographic characters in this proposal is developed by Beijing Founder Electronics Co., Ltd.

VII. Notes on the revision

1. The characters

We found that some characters in the original proposal N3425 are the same glyph. They were listed separated because they can be expressed in different Naxi words. However, they express the same meaning. Therefore we only kept one character of the same glyphs in this new proposal. The following is the detail.

N1072 vs. N1176 N1176 is deleted.
In summary, 15 characters are deleted. The total number of script is changed from 1203 to 1188.

2. Order of the characters
In the dictionaries of Fang (1981) and Li (1953), Dongba script are divided by categories.
Fang: Astronomy, Geography, Plant, Bird, Animal, Insect and Fish, People,Humanity, Body, Dress, Food, House, Utensil, Road, Shape, Number, and Religion.
Li: Astronomy, Geography, Humanity, Body, Bird, Animal and Insect, Plant, Utensil, Food, Dress, Weapon, Building, Number and Action, Rerko Character, Tibetan Word, Religion, Ghost, Dongba and Dragon King, and Spirit.
In the proposal N3425, the Dongba characters are arranged in the traditional way of Chinese Pinyin according to the Naxi pronunciation as the following (IPA):

p pʰ b m f t tʰ d n l k kʰ g ŋ h tɕ tɕʰ dʑ ȵ ɕ tʂ tʂʰ dʐ ʂ ʐ

ts tsʰ dz s z i y æ ɑ o u v ə ər iə uæ uɑ uə

This order system is used both by Fang (1981) and Li (1953) in their dictionaries for the phonetic scripts (Geba), as well as the sorting of the Dongba pictographic characters in Li (1953).
In this revised proposal, the Dongba characters are transcripted with Naxi Pinyin first, and then arranged in alphabetic order based on the Naxi Pinyin.

3. Sources of the characters
We provide source of each character in this proposal. As we stated before, all the characters collected in the proposal are from Dongba dictionaries by Fang Guoyu (1981) and Li Lincan (1953).

4. Naming of the characters
We are planning to name the characters in the revised proposal, but it seems a big challenge. Naxi people usually refer to Donba characters by their Naxi words. However, there are lots of homophones in Naxi. According to the naming rules, different characters can not have the same names. We hope we could have other experts' suggestions on this problem.
