African as the continent in focus is good to be well represented in todays cyber communication through use of African women emoji in meta communication.

It will be a welcome development if African women feelings and emotions are well represented, because they are human beings created by God, fathered by man, begotten by a woman and protected by law.