Dear everyone,

Due to travel restrictions, some experts from China cannot go to Vietnam this time. Instead, China propose to host the Old Hanzi Ad hoc meeting as a pre-IRG meeting for 3 days in the week of Nov. 9 - 13. I have asked all the main participants, China, TCA and Japan and they have agreed preliminarily to meet on Nov. 11 – 13 (correction).

I would like to inform all IRG delegates and ask for two questions: (1) if you or experts in your delegate are interested to participate, and (2) if you are interested, would the proposed place and time ok with you or not. If not, please propose some alternative date.

I was just informed of this difficulty and I am sorry for the short notice. For information to IRG members, please note that Old Hanzi Group is an Ad hoc group and they do not need to have their meeting at the same as that of IRGs. Of course, they need to report to IRG so we know their progress so we can direct them once they have reached certain milestones.

If you are not interested, or have no objection, no reply is needed. Otherwise, please give me your response latest by noon Thursday 29 Oct, 2009 (Japan time, this is where I am attending the WG2 meeting).

Best regards,

Lu Qin
